

CyberFlex

Your Flexible, Advisory-led Application Security Program

Built for security teams, CyberFlex provides continuous application risk visibility, flexible testing capacity, and expert advisory support through a single, adaptable application security program.

CyberFlex helps organizations move beyond one-off security testing by continuously discovering, prioritizing and validating application risks, enabling security teams to focus effort where it reduces the most risk while adapting to changing priorities.

Continuous Attack Surface Visibility:

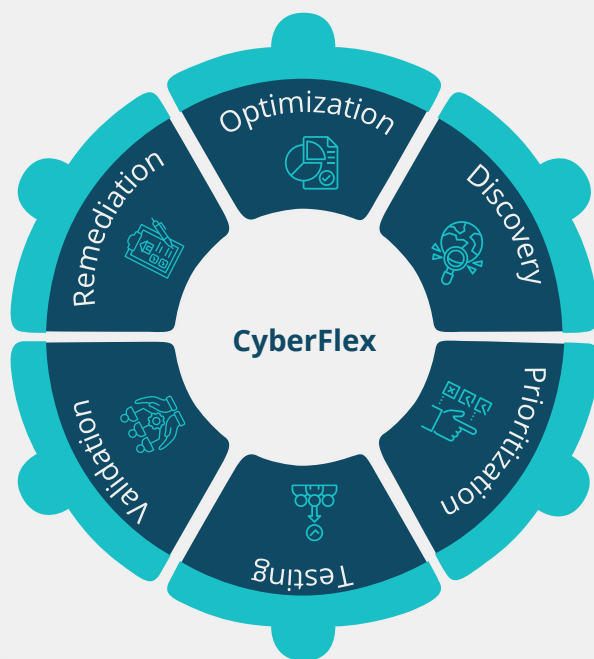

Discover known, unknown and shadow IT assets as your environment changes

Risk-led Prioritization: Focus testing and remediation on the exposures that matter most

Expert-led Guidance & Validation:

CREST-certified AppSec experts help prioritize testing, validate findings and support remediation

Flexible Budget Allocation: Shift investment across testing, validation and advisory support as priorities evolve

The Right Test For Every Application

Not every application carries the same level of risk. CyberFlex helps organizations apply the right level of testing and expert support to each application based on its criticality, exposure, and business importance, ensuring effort is focused where it will have the greatest impact

Full Program Lifecycle: From Discovery to Remediation Support

A Program That Scales With Your Needs

CyberFlex is designed to support organizations of all sizes and application security maturity levels. Start with the level of testing and expert support you need today, then adapt as your application security program evolves.
